

ARE YOU OR ARE YOU NOT
Index of Subtopics and Images by Chapter

Chapter One: Cognitive Science and the Psychological Problem of Dualism	3
Chapter Two: The Dilemma	14
Colin McGinn’s “Epistemic Mysterianism”	17
Raymond Tallis’ Rejection of “Neuromania” and “Darwinitis”	19
Tallis’s Concept of Temporal Depth.	21
Diagram 1, Mind-Body Dualism.	23
Thomas Nagel and the Failure of Neo-Darwinism	23
Diagram 2, Naturalistic Teleology	24
Serial v. Sequential Relationship of Evolutionary Stages	27
Chapter Three: The Data and the Method	29
A Psychological Hypothesis	40
Chapter Four: Three Brief Examples	43
Diagram 3, Tetragrammaton	45
Diagram 4, Sadhu’s Idea of Nature as Unity of Spirit and Matter	48
The Importance of Continuity from Matter to Spirit.	48
Diagram 5, Chain of Tetragrammatons Establish Continuity	50
Dewey’s Invocation of Synthesis and Analogy	51
Diagram 6, Development Requires Functional Reciprocity	52
Diagram 7, Dewey’s Temporal Series of Functions	53
Diagram 8, Dewey-Aristotle Structural Comparison	57
Chapter Five: The Ampliative Model of Development	60
Diagram 9, Structural-Dynamic Unity	66
Diagram 10, The Ampliative Model of Development.	69
The Metaphor of “Interpenetration” in the Ampliative Model	70
Structure and Content in Diagram 10	71
Diagram 10a, Hierarchical, Polar, and Serial Arrangements of Functions	74
The Bindu or point-like unity of Functions	77
Diagram 11, Triangle-Cross Conversion.	77
Diagram 12, Series of Functions Distributed Around a Circle	78
Prelude to Part Two	79
Chapter Six: The Parting of the Paradigms	83
Santayana’s View of Emotion, Reason and What Lies Between.	86
Diagram 13, Tetragrammaton: The Relation of Action, Reason and Emotion	86
Dewey’s Concept of The Return	97
Diagrammatic Confusion	99
The Return in Meditation and Tantra-Yoga	101
Seeing the Unseen.	103
Chapter Seven: Bergson	105
What is Time? What is Memory?	106
Bergson’s Map of the Self: The Two Fields of Consciousness.	118
Diagram 14, Illustrating Bergson’s Division of the Psyche or Self.	119
Summary	125

Chapter Eight: The Critical Question	126
Diagram 15, Counting Four Items Using Kant’s Theory of Synthesis	139
Durational Time is Synthesis	142
Bergson’s Answer to the Critical Question: Self and Object in Transaction.	143
Chapter Nine: Jung, Bergson, the Divided Self, and God	147
Diagram 16, Tetragrammaton as Male-Female Synthesis	152
What is Chaos?	155
What is Chaos for Bergson?	155
Where is Chaos in Diagram 10?	155
The Central Line of Diagram 10 is the Dynamic Life Process	156
God	158
Chapter Ten: The Amplification of the World	163
Dewey’s Concept of the Situation	165
The Situation and Higher Dimensions of Reality	168
The Amplification of the World	172